India – ASEAN: A Snapshot

- India’s relationship with ASEAN countries is the foundation of our foreign policy as well as our “Act East Policy”
- India has a Free Trade Agreement (FTA) with ASEAN
- Post India-ASEAN FTA, total trade between India and ASEAN countries expanded substantially from US$ 45.34 billion in 2008-09 to nearly US$ 81 billion in 2017-18
- India and ASEAN economies are the emerging and progressive economies in the global context.
- ASEAN’s combined GDP of US$ 2.4 trillion makes it the 3rd largest economy in Asia and 7th largest in the world
- Geographical proximity, strong cordial political & cultural linkages pave the way for greater economic integration integration

Acting East via North-East

- The North-East is India's New Economy and the new engine for economic growth. Being famous for its human capital and hospitality, the Northeast Region of India has the uniqueness of being the only region having overland links with the ASEAN nations. Besides, it also enjoys close historical and cultural linkages which will help in strengthening ties with Southeast Asia. India should not only look at the North East as merely a 'Gateway' to the ASEAN in our Act East scheme of things. Instead it should start treating the region as the 'Hub' or 'Pivot' of India's Act East. Northeast has to become an active participant, and not merely be a transit or passage, in the Act East policy.
- According to the latest International Monetary Fund World Economic Outlook figures, ASEAN countries’ gross domestic products combined to $2.73 trillion in 2017, putting the group ahead of the United Kingdom’s 2.63 trillion and India’s $2.61 trillion.
- ASEAN is set to grow faster, as some countries like Vietnam and the Philippines boast of huge growth rates. Last year, Focus Economics estimated that ASEAN’s growth had reached a five-year high of 5.2 percent.
